

CONTRIBUTION: Warwick Credit Union CEO Lews von Stieglitz hands over a cheque for $200 to Bush Children's Rebecca Wright and Linda Cholawinsky. Photo: Emma Channon

Credit union chips in for kids' health

By EMMA CHANNON

WITH his son having used the services of Bush Children's Warwick, Warwick Credit Union chief executive Lewis von Stieglitz knows first-hand just how vital the organisation is.

"They just do good work in the community and they're something I think we need as a means of support," he said.

"There is a lack of those intervention-type groups.

"It's tremendously important to have this sort of service, particularly within the rural community.

Children would definitely struggle without it."

This week, the Warwick Credit Union handed over $200 in support of Bush Children's Warwick. The donation will go towards the golf day this weekend and will help 'sponsor' a hole.

Health support worker Linda Cholawinsky said the contribution was greatly appreciated.

"The Credit Union is providing nibbles on the golf day this Sunday, which will help enhance the experience for everyone," she said.

"It's great to have the support of local businesses, who help us provide the free service to the community.

"We acknowledge and appreciate the community support."

A number of items will be auctioned off at the golf day, this Sunday, from 3.30pm. To make a silent bid beforehand, call Bush Children's on 4667 1200.

Tickets are also on sale for a multi-draw raffle, with prizes including a dinner for six at Grafton Rose B and B or a Broncos jersey signed by Darren Lockyer.

Just 200 tickets are being sold at $10 each, at Bush Children's Warwick or at the golf club.